

Capability Statement

The US Government is the largest employer in the United States. According to BLS, annual attrition rates are at 26.3%; which, based on income, costs anywhere from 20% to 213% of annual salary. When considering the root causes of attrition, we find “aggressive behaviors” like sexual-harassment, abuse, bullying, discrimination, and distrustful behavior are at attrition’s core. Of course, assaultive, and violent behaviors will cause a cascading exodus of good employees who leave due to PTSD issues.

The Center for Aggression Management provides systems and training that utilize scientifically reliable means for preventing sexual harassment, abuse, bullying, discrimination, distrustful behavior, excessive force, and violence in today's complex workplace, campus, and school environments, with scientific reliability, and without violating privacy regulations.

Since its founding in 1993, hundreds of companies and educational institutions have successfully used the Center's programs to make their many locations safer and more productive for students, employees, members, and guests.

The CAPS system currently utilizes a proprietary web and mobile-based software (CAPS Mobile App with CAPS Dashboard), and the Meter of Emerging Aggression (MEA), to forensically record and longitudinally track aggressive behavior. This evidence-based approach has set the industry standard in terms of best practices. Because the MEA uses no mental health assessments, culture, gender, education, age, sexual orientation, or religion in its aggression assessment; it does not violate, nor contravene, HIPAA, FERPA in our schools, the Civil Rights Act of 1964, or any other Privacy regulations.
